Forestry

WASHINGTON STATE UNIVERSITY
EXTENSION

Your Land. Your Trees. Your Goals.

Natural beauty, wildlife, investment, family ties, privacy, and peace and quiet, are some of the many reasons people value their property. Whatever your values are, this comprehensive university-based forestry class will help you get the most out of the land you love. Whether you have just a few acres of woods or a large forest tract, if you have trees on your property, this class is for you.

Topics covered include:

- How do you know if your trees are healthy? What should you do if they aren't?
- What types of trees do you have? Does your forest look like a "mess"?
- How do you attract wildlife you enjoy? What can you do if wildlife cause damage?
- When should you worry about trees being hazards?
- How do you know if your trees need to be thinned, and how do you go about it?
- What is the risk of wildfire on your property?
- Are invasive and noxious weeds taking over your underbrush? What are the risks and what can you do about it?
- What kind of soil do you have and how does that affect what grows?

I was really pleased by the variety of topics covered... everything from ecology to marketing. My favorite was the session on Forest Taxation—definitely not what I would have expected going in!

I really understand what is meant by "active management" now and why it is so important for eastern Washington forests.
