Songaia Co-housing Community Garden	Bothell 22401 39th St. SE., Bothell, WA 98021	Residents Only	The garden began as a small organic garden plot more than 25 years ago and has evolved into an important focus of our work towards sustainable community. In 2010 the community members took a field trip to the Bullock Family Permaculture Homestead on Orcas Island and then began to orient the garden development along Permaculture lines. We began studying and applying permaculture principles to the garden including shifting our orchard plantings into food forests and using permaculture techniques such as hugelkultur and keyhole designs. We donate a small amount of the food we grow to the local food banks. community residents only	Garden Manager - Patricia Newkirk - patricia@songaia.com	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> www.songaia.com 	Yes

Charles Street Community Garden	Everett (Port Gardner Neighborhood) Federal Avenue at Charles St, Everett, WA	Community	On City undeveloped Right of Way, developed via funding by city matching grant from City of Everett to Port Gardner Neighborhood, built in 2008-2009. Has 22 raised bed boxes on a terraced slope, with common area blueberries, strawberries and raspberries, compost bin and shed. Community managed. Our Pea Patch is for neighborhood residents to participate in, gather for community events and gives our local elementary school an education opportunity for their students. They currently assist with 4 plots out of 22. Our garden is located on the corner of Charles St and Federal Ave in Everett. We do encourage visitors to come by and look and in fact it's right on a major sidewalk and along a pathway so it's hard not to notice it but we don't promote picking any produce of course, just because most of us do eat what we grow so it's a big deal. Interfaith Family Shelter Garden	Everett Interfaith Association of Northwest Washington P.O. Box 12824 Everett, WA 98206	Residents Only	"Our Interfaith Family Shelter garden provides a truly unique experience for our shelter guests and community members. Vegetables, fruits and flowers have been grown for at least eight years. The garden has several rows of raised beds, a pumpkin and squash patch, raspberry bushes and apple trees. Master Gardeners contribute greatly to its success while shelter guests learn the skills of small gardening and giving back to community. The garden is SO abundant that in season, we are able to share our harvest with local food banks.	Administration: 425-252-6672		No
Jackson Park (in development)	Everett Delta Park Neighborhood 1700 State St, Everett, WA 98201	Community	Among the features are two separate playground areas for children of different age groups, a basketball court, a second picnic shelter, LED lighting that will illuminate the park at night, a new restroom which will be closer to play areas, three rain gardens to catch storm water and a walking path which will surround the area to provide walking and jogging opportunities. All of these features will be completed in phase one of the renovation by September 2015. A 36 plot community garden for the Delta Neighborhood is also in the plans, and that will be available for use at the beginning of planting season in 2016. Federal Community Block Grant dollars will also assist in the development of the community garden. The garden will promote local, sustainable food production.
